COL. ROOSEVELT ON THE WITNESS STAND IN LIBEL SUIT AGAINST PUBLISHER

Defends Himself Against Allegation of Drunkenness Made by Publisher of Iron Ore Issued at Ishpeming, Mich.

ROOSEVELT ADMITS HE IS NOT A TOTAL ABSTAINER

Claims He Has Never Drunk a Highball or a Cocktail in His Life and Only Drank Whiskey When the Doctor Prescribed It or After Exposure When Chilled—Direct Testimony Lasted About An Hour.

Marquette, Mich., May 27.—In the elaborate but small court room of this city, Theodore Roosevelt appeared in what is probably an unique occasion in history, when in effect he, although a former president of the United States, defended himself under oath against an allegation of drunkenness. His direct testimony lasted about an hour and cross examination immediately began.

In substance, Colonel Roosevelt defended himself as a man of complete sobriety, although not a total abstainer. The leading points in his testimony may be quoted as follows: "I am not a total abstainer."

"I have never drunk a highball or a cocktail in my life."

"I do not smoke and I do not drink beer and I don't drink red wine."

"I have never drunk whiskey or brandy except when the doctor prescribed it, or possibly on some occasion after great exposure when I was chilled through."

"The only wines I have drunk have been white wines, maderia, champagne or very occasionally a glass of sherry."

"At home at dinner I often drink a glass or two of white wine and potent water."

"At public dinner I sometimes drink a glass of champagne or perhaps two. On an average I may drink one glass of champagne a month."

"There was a fine mint bed at the White House and I may have drunk half a dozen mint juleps there in a year."

"On the African trip the expedition took along a case of champagne, a case of whiskey and a bottle of brandy. The brandy was for me because I do not drink whiskey. In the eleven months of the trip the doctor administered just seven ounces of it to me for medical purposes. I never touched it except on his advice. The champagne was used for three of our party who were ill with dysentery and for some sick strangers whom we met."

"On speaking tours by direction of Surgeon General Rixey, I sometimes took a goblet or two of milk on retiring, and in each there was a measured spoonful of brandy."

"Since leaving the White House I think I have tasted mint juleps twice, part of a glass at St. Louis and a sip from a loving cup at Little Rock, Ark."

When Colonel Roosevelt remarked that he might have drunk a half dozen mint juleps in a year at the White House, a titter went around the room when Attorney Pound, on direct examination asked if he drank them all at one time or more

Martin Burns Suicides By Shooting Himself at Early Hour This Morning

Despondent because of ill health due to insomnia because of nervousness, Martin Burns, 42, proprietor of a saloon at 111 Railroad street, took his own life early Tuesday morning, when he fired three shots into his body in the sitting room of his home at the same address.

The first shot penetrated his right breast, the second shot entering the left breast and the third being fired into the back of the head. Neither of the other wounds would have produced death but the last shot fired killed the man instantly and he was dead before anyone reached his side.

The suicide followed a desperate attempt on the part of Mrs. Burns to prevent the rash act but the man's superior strength and his determination to end his misery were too much for the woman to overcome.

In an interview with the Advocate

Mrs. Burns told of the incidents immediately preceding the tragedy. She said that Burns had not slept soundly for several nights. He got a little rest Sunday night and did not sleep at all Monday night. He was up several times during the night.

About daylight he went into the sitting room, saying that he would be on the couch for awhile. Fatigued by worry and care for her husband, Mrs. Burns was almost at the point of exhaustion and she dropped into a deep slumber from which she was aroused by the first shot fired.

She rushed into the sitting room where she found Burns standing in the middle of the floor with a revolver in his hands. His shirt was burning on the right side and the man seemed dazed.

Mrs. Burns grappled with her husband. (Continued on page 10, col. 4.)

PUPILS OPPOSE CHANGING OF HOODOO DATE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Sussex, N. J., May 27.—Superstition still lurks with not only the elderly, but the young generation here insist upon turning bad omens to good ones.

Many parents have petitioned the board of education to change the date of commencement day from Friday, June 13 to some other day, but the board referred the matter to the pupils and the latter are opposing any action to "spoil the jinx."

"It is such a perfectly complete hoodoo, said a girl member of the class that we would not think of letting anything interfere with it. If the thirteen influence goes through the charm will mean good luck for us all."

DISPOSITION OF DARKE COUNTY GRAFT CASES

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Columbus, O., May 27.—By affirming the decision of the lower courts in the case of William H. Townsend against the state of Ohio, today the supreme court disposed of the last of the so-called Darke county graft cases. The decision means that Townsend must serve the three years to which he was sentenced in the penitentiary. He was indicted for aiding and abetting H. J. Frey, contractor now serving a term in the penitentiary, in receiving payment for work never done.

SHOT THROUGH EYE BY STRAY BULLET AT BEECH WOODS

[Special to the Advocate] Beech Woods, O., May 27.—The condition of Calvin Van Sickle living just east of here, who was shot several days ago by a stray bullet, is somewhat improved. After the accident, Mr. Van Sickle was removed to the Grant hospital, in Columbus, for treatment.

He was unconscious for some time after being found, and later was able to tell concerning the incident leading up to the accident. Mr. Van Sickle said he heard the report of a gun and then almost immediately felt a stinging sensation across the eyes, blinding him, as if a whip had lashed him. The bullets entered the left eye, plowed through the nose and destroyed the other eye.

The doctors hold out no hope of saving the sight, but it is possible that he may survive the accident.

MARRIED WOMAN KILLS LOVER AT SIOUX FALLS, S. D.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Sioux Falls, S. D., May 27.—Dr. E. L. Moore, state veterinary and instructor in the veterinary department of the state agricultural school at Brookings, was shot and instantly killed by Mrs. Mae Ellen, 22 years of age, last night in a boarding house here. The woman fired two shots into her own brain afterward and is dying.

The woman left a note which read: "Take care of my remains. Take care of us both. Mae."

The story of a secret love affair was revealed by quantities of correspondence found in the woman's room by the police after the shooting. Dr. Moore has a wife and three children living at Brookings. Mrs. Ellen and her husband separated several months ago.

Gov. Cox Answers Comments of Two U. S. Senators in a Most Scathing Arraignment

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Washington, May 27.—A scathing arraignment was administered to Senators Goff, of West Virginia and Gallinger, of New Hampshire, for the attack they made on Governor Cox, of Ohio, for his refusal to send troops to Cincinnati when the street car strike was on, in a letter from the governor which was received by Senator Pomerene today.

In rebuking Senator Goff, after telling of the peaceful adjustment of the Cincinnati trouble, Governor Cox said:

"This was in such marked contrast to the scenes so familiar to the senator from West Virginia that one can easily understand his resentment against a civilized and humane industrial condition that might sweep eastward over the Ohio river and wipe out the situation that has been a disgrace to the republic for twenty years."

The reply of Governor Cox was placed in Senator Pomerene's hands last week, and would have been presented by him in the senate yesterday but for the fact that an urgent request came from Cincinnati over the name of Walter A. Knight, chairman of the Federated Improvement association, that the matter be dropped in the interest of Cincinnati whose people desired that their troubles, now happily over, be given no more public airing in congress. Senator Pomerene agreed to withhold the reply of the governor until he could get into communication

BAPTISTS ON LABOR QUESTION

Declaration of Principles Adopted at North Baptist Convention

RIGHT TO ORGANIZE

And, Adequate Means of Conciliation and Arbitration are Urged—Would Provide for Worker in Old Age.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Detroit, Mich., May 27.—The attitude of the North Baptist church in matters relating to labor, the home and family and social service was set forth in the report of the social service committee read last night by the Rev. Samuel Zane Batten before the convention now in session here. The commission presented a declaration of principles which are to be adopted by the church as its platform in dealing with the subjects:

The principal plans are:

Right of both laborer and employer to organize is recognized. Adequate means of conciliation and arbitration urged. Release from employment one day in seven demanded.

A living as a minimum in every industry and for the highest wage that each industry can afford.

For gradual and reasonable reduction in hours of labor to the lowest practical point.

Protection of the health of the worker, dangerous machinery, occupational disease and morality.

Provision for worker in old age and those incapacitated from injury.

Protection of the worker from the hardships of enforced employment.

For the new emphasis upon the application of Christian principles to the acquisition and use of property and for the most equitable division of the product of industry that can be devised.

For the protection of the family by the standard of equity.

For the fullest possible development of every child, and especially by the provision of proper education and recreation.

For the abolition of child labor.

For such regulations of the condition of toil for women as shall safeguard the physical and moral health of the community.

For the protection of the individual and society from the social, economic and moral waste of the liquor traffic.

The adoption by each church affiliated with the convention of a constructive program of social service and to seek to enlist its members directly in some forms of practical social service.

Theological seminaries to have course in social service that shall train pastors and workers for the church.

Libeler of Congressmen Must Serve Five Years

New York, May 27.—Henry W. A. Page, a wealthy New York merchant who was sentenced to five years in prison by the courts of the District of Columbia for calling Representative Henry D. Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the House Judiciary committee, a crook, has disappeared. Page simply couldn't keep out of trouble after the court had suspended sentence of five years.

Becoming involved in the New York state courts over the divorce and alimony suits of his wife, he demanded a congressional investigation. He was considered a crank and the matter was dropped.

Then he prepared an imposing looking document, entitled "Death to Liberty," in which he attacked Clayton. Tried for libel and found guilty May 28, 1912, he was sentenced to five years, and then the court suspended sentence on the understanding that it would be invoked if he didn't behave.

That held Page for a year, but the other day there was received at the White House a document of 113 pages, in which he reiterated all the charges and attacked the Department of Justice. A warrant was issued for his arrest. But officers who came to New York could not find him.

OHIO AUTOMOBILES ON THE INCREASE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Columbus, O., May 27.—The number of automobiles in Ohio is rapidly growing and already this year exceeds the total number registered last year by more than 5,000. At present there are 68,200 machines registered, as compared with 63,117 last year.

The net receipts of the department so far this year are $317,638.01. This money has been turned over to the state treasurer.

WORK ON NEW TEMPLE.

With the lifting of clouds Tuesday morning and an occasional peep of sunshine in the forenoon, workmen resumed operations shifting the steel work onto the new foundation for the Masonic temple at Fourth and Church streets.

THE SOUTH SIDE TO HAVE A NEW CONCRETE BRIDGE AT SOUTH SECOND STREET

An Up-to-Date Improvement Greatly Needed for Newark City and a Large Portion of the South Part of Licking County.

South Side citizens have found cause to rejoice over the likelihood of the county commissioners erecting a concrete bridge at South Second street in place of the old iron structure, which it was thought would be replaced by steel.

After accepting and considering bids offered by the various bridge builders, the county commissioners Monday awarded the second street bridge contract to H. E. Williams for the sum of $26,277, which represents his bid. While the commissioners considered the plan of erecting a steel bridge, the concrete structure was favored by Commissioners Brownfield and Taverner, who adopted plans submitted by Williams, by a two-to-one vote.

Williams was also awarded the contract for material and labor for the Clay Lick bridge, at his bid of $1,297, for constructing the temporary foot bridge across the creek at South Second street, for $200, and for removing the north and south spans of the Second street bridge to Smoketown and Lock for $350 each.

Messrs. Brownfield and Taverner are receiving the praise of South Side residents who are greatly pleased over the actions of the commissioners, who have always done that which they thought would be to the best interest of the tax payers and at the same time in accord with the most up-to-date, the most practical and the most enduring of bridge structures. The new up-to-date concrete bridge at South Second street means a substantial benefit to the South Side business interests as well as a convenience for all that large portion of Licking county people who come to the city by that avenue.

obedience of orders, Captain Charles Swank testified that he had told Burke to investigate a complaint made at headquarters that Jack Myers had dumped a basket of glass in an alley in East Newark. Swank couldn't remember the date nor the place where the order was issued.

"Wasn't it this way?" said Attorney P. H. Smythe, one of Burke's counsel. "Didn't you come across Burke on the square in the afternoon while he was talking with friends. Didn't he say, 'It's time for me to ring in.' And didn't you say, 'Yes, I think the girl at headquarters has some order for you.'"

"It might have been that way," replied Swank.

Both the plaintiff and defense rested at this point and the defendant's motion to dismiss the charges was overruled. Director Collier dismissed the charge of speaking disrespectfully of a superior officer, but sustained the charges of drinking and disobedience of orders.

Burke's attorneys gave immediate notice of the appeal of the case to the civil service commission.

The documents in the case will be turned over to the commission by Director Collier and the commission will set the date of the hearing. In the meantime Burke will continue to be on the suspended list.

SAFETY DIRECTOR SITS IN JUDGMENT OF OWN CHARGES

Patrolman Burke Dismissed from the Force by Director Collier on Charges Preferred by Himself—Will Carry Case to Commission.

Sustaining two of the three charges brought against Patrolman Charles O. Burke, and dismissing the remaining charge, Safety Director Wayne Collier Tuesday afternoon rendered a judgment dismissing the patrolman from the service.

The director's decision was made over the protests of Burke's attorneys, who claimed that the director had no right to prefer charges, sit at the hearing and render judgment on his own allegations. They cited a section of the statute wherein it is stated that this right rests "exclusively" with the chief of police. The rules governing the department also makes the same assertion.

The testimony calculated to sustain the charges filed was about the flimsiest ever offered against any defendant.

In supporting the charge of speaking disrespectfully of Safety Director Collier, Wagonman Moore of headquarters said he "did not recollect anything about it."

Referring to the charge of drinking on duty, Moore stated that he was in saloon taking a drink, when Burke came in. Moore said that he and Burke spoke and Burke ordered something, the nature of which he could not state.

"Did it look like beer or whiskey?" asked the safety director.

"I didn't pay any particular attention," was Moore's answer.

J. W. Porter, employed in the topographical department of the American Art works at Coshocton, and a prominent Mason, is reported, only just recovering from injuries received near Newark last Saturday while returning from an inspection of the Brownsville Masonic lodge. The vehicle in which Mr. Porter was riding was struck by a motor-cycle and so badly smashed that the occupants, Porter and driver, were compelled to take a car into the city. Porter and his companion were thrown out of the carriage.

Gov. Johnson Comments On Labor Opposition to The Alien Land Law

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] San Jose, Calif., May 27.—In a letter received today by Walter G. Mahewson, secretary of the San Jose Labor Council, Governor Hiram Johnson, declares the anti-alien law enacted recently is "one of the most drastic laws upon the subject that has been introduced in the California legislature" and asserts "that any man who claims to favor an alien land law that will sign a referendum against this law is either an idiot or is bought."

"Every other bill that has been before the legislature for the last eight years," says the governor's letter, "provides in one fashion or another for leasing, and the only two bills that were seriously discussed during Mr. Bryan's stay here provided only for leasing of land, but the right to purchase and hold for a limited time."

Commenting on the labor opposition to the alien land law because it was regarded as less drastic than desired, the governor says:

"I have been shocked and horrified at the attitude of some of the labor people of San Francisco, but I am proud to say that these labor leaders whom we respect have taken the same position that your people in Santa Clara county have taken. We have done the big thing in this alien land legislation. We have laid the ghost that has been with us so many years and we have gone ahead and legislated on a subject that it was our legal and moral right to legislate upon."

Mysterious Death at Chicago May Rival the Famous Johann Hock Case

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM] Chicago, May 27.—The coroner will be asked today to investigate the death of Homer Edward Morrison, who was involved in a mystery which may rival that of Johann Hock. Morrison died last Thursday at a hospital with what was diagnosed as acute nephritis but it is suspected that the patient was poisoned.

Two women who have appeared say they were approached by a man named Morrison who posed as a real estate dealer and the police have a record of a third woman who claims also to have been victimized. Mrs. Pearl Devitt, a widow, asserts she gave Morrison $1,600 upon his promise to marry her. This money included her husband's insurance. The second woman says she was Louise Beck before she married Morrison three years ago at Hillsdale, Mich. She states that she gave him $15,000.

Mrs. Devitt applied to the police on Saturday to find Morrison. She had gone to his room at 367 Chicago avenue, where neighbors told her Morrison was dead and that his furniture had been moved out by a woman. The police then found that Morrison had resided at 4919 Winchester avenue with a woman who says she was his wife. She knew nothing of his apartments on Chicago avenue.

FOUND NO RELIEF UNTIL RECENTLY

SICK TREATED WITH FIVE DIFFERENT DOCTORS WHO FAILED TO GIVE HIM RELIEF.

UNITED DOCTORS SUCCEEDED.

Had Been Ailing With Stomach, Kidney, Liver Trouble and Appendicitis.

Discouragement greets many sick people month after month and often year after year in search for health. Often enough they never find it again and go through their lives in misery and pain.

When however we hear of some one who after long suffering and pain has finally found relief, we can but wonder with what regret the sick person looks back and wishes he had found the last doctor first and saved her or himself a long period of illness. For if a sick person finds relief after long suffering—surely relief would have been much more quickly obtained if this doctor or doctors who finally give relief had treated the patient at the beginning.

The United Doctors who have their Newark institute on the second floor of the Arcade are modern physicians, one might say more than modern for they have dropped all old prejudices long since and use only means within their power to give health to the ailing.

In "uniting" the three methods of medicine into one "United" system of treatment they have tripled their percentage of cures. If a case is found that will obtain the best results under the Homeopathic method of treatment—the patient gets this. If under the Allopathic then he is treated under that system of medicine. A "United" doctor is a graduate of one system of medicine or another—but practices all known methods regardless for the good of his patients.

The following public statement again shows what is daily being accomplished with the United Doctors new non-surgical treatment.

Dayton, Ohio, May 18th, 1913.

"To the Public:

"I have been ailing since last Christmas with stomach, liver and kidney trouble and appendicitis. I had treated with five different doctors without receiving any benefit. I even consulted one Columbus specialist but he offered me no hope except with surgery.

Two months ago I went to the United Doctors and started their treatment. I now feel so much better and stronger that I am able to work with fork and shovel. I have gained ten pounds and feel that I will entirely regain my lost weight and strength.

Edward Niswanger, Fletcher, O. R. F. D. No. 1.

The United Doctors treat among other ailments, chronic and deep-seated diseases of the nerves, heart, liver, kidneys, spine, including rheumatism, paralysis, epilepsy, gall stones, goitre, rupture, indigestion, constipation, asthma, dropsy, catarrh, deafness, neuralgia, loss of nerve force, weak lungs, rectal troubles, tumors and diseases of women and diseases of men.

JOHNNY EVERS

The Chicago Cubs have started this season like a whirlwind and Johnny Evers, their new manager, had the laugh on Tucker and Chance who were hanging on the bottom of the percentage table.

The first Eastern trip of the Chicago club rather than a setback, as they crumpled before the Eastern team. Outside of Chicago, Evers has no pitcher that he can depend on and even Cheney can't win every time. Johnny himself is not batting much so far.

TO RENEW THE FIGHT AGAINST BOXING BILL

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Chicago, May 27.—The tragic ending of the Pelky-McCarthy fight at Calgary, Alberta, Saturday has added the chance for the boxing bill now before the legislature, according to the opinion of many local promoters who yesterday disposed of objections on several bills which they had secured for prospective boxing matches dependent on the success of the pending bill, permitting these matches.

The fact that McCarthy's death resulted from a bout in which the principals wore eight ounce gloves is regarded by the friends of the bill as especially strong argument for its opponents. Several religious organizations have prepared to renew their campaign against the pending legislation.

MCCARTHY'S WIDOW MAY GET FORTUNE OF PRIZE FIGHTER

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Fargo, N. D., May 27.—Mrs. Luther McCarthy, widow of the late prize fighter, may receive $65,000, the amount of the fortune left by her husband.

Mrs. McCarthy received a telegram yesterday from attorneys in Chicago, saying that her husband's estate would reach about $65,000 and that she would be able to claim the money if action were taken at once. Mrs. McCarthy conferred with an attorney, who later left for Chicago.

Lute McCarthy, Married At Sixteen Years

Luther McCarthy, killed at Calgary, Saturday, and heavyweight champion of Venice Cal. and environs, and Mrs. Rhoda McCarthy, who was a Miss White of Sidney, Ohio, would have celebrated their wooden wedding tomorrow. For the benefit of the uninitiated, it may be stated that a wooden wedding commemorates the rounding out of five years of matrimonial bliss. As Lute was twenty-one last March, it may be figured out that he was only sixteen annuus old when he "jumped the broomstick," as they say in some rural sections. The story of Mrs. McCarthy's married career is more "replete with incident" than that of Luther's ring history. Soon after their marriage, the boy husband and his girl bride left Sidney and went out into the wide world to make their fortune. Their first stop was at Ludington, Mich., and then, soon after, to Saskatchewan, where Luther expected to punch cattle and maybe for a few injuns. He carried out the first part of his program, securing employment on a ranch near Saskatoon, but discovered that the people of that section had a prejudice against the slaughter of redskins, and Luther left Saskatoon without a single notch on his trusty rifle. Luther's next job was at Fargo, N. D., where he worked at pressing pants and such. Mrs. McCarthy didn't find Lute a liberal provider, and went to work as a cook in a Fargo restaurant. At one time, it is alleged, she had Lute arrested for non-support, but dismissed the charge. This by no means tells all the story of the McCarthy wanderings, for he worked at a dozen different occupations, in as many cities of western Canada and the United States, before he made good, financially, in the ring. Since he accumulated money in large chunks, Luther is said to have provided liberally for his wife and young daughter. McCarthy owes a lot to the brave little woman who shared his days of poverty and trials.

Just a quarter of a century ago today "Adonis" Terry, a great twirler of his day, broke into the baseball hall of fame by pitching a no-hit game. Terry then wore a Brooklyn uniform while the Louisville Colonels were his victims.

632 N. 5th St., Terre Haute, Ind.—"My little nephew, a boy of four years, had a breaking out on his face. It was little red spots at first, but he would rub and scratch and water blisters would form and wherever the water would run another would come until his face was covered with them. He would cry and fret. His mother got some medicine, but it did not do any good. He would scream at night and say it hurt. We hardly knew him. His little face was all red spots and blisters. So I begged him to let me put some Cuticura Ointment on them. The next morning I made a strong soap suds with Cuticura Soap and washed his face in the warm suds. The first blister broke by pressing the cloth on it. After I had his face washed, I put the Cuticura Ointment on and in a short time his little face was all red and dry. I kept using the Cuticura Soap and putting on the Cuticura Ointment and his face got well and it did not have a scar. He was entirely cured in about one week and a half. (Signed) Mrs. Arthur Haworth, Jan. 10, 1912.

A single cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient when all else has failed. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

Suppose The Pioneers Had Been Knockers!

(By Chalmers L. Pancoast.)

Newark in its early days must have enthused the pioneers of this city. It surely held out a wonderful lure as a haven from failure and unhappiness. It certainly made them loyal boosters to build so well and so substantially.

Had they been knockers instead of boosters would we not have a foundation so permanent today?

They are no longer here to witness the successful results of their boosting and building. But these pioneer boosters will always live in our memories—we are grateful for their selfish boosting and building.

After all, what's the use of kicking, complaining, fanning and fussing? "It's just as cheap and easy" to do a little boosting day by day.

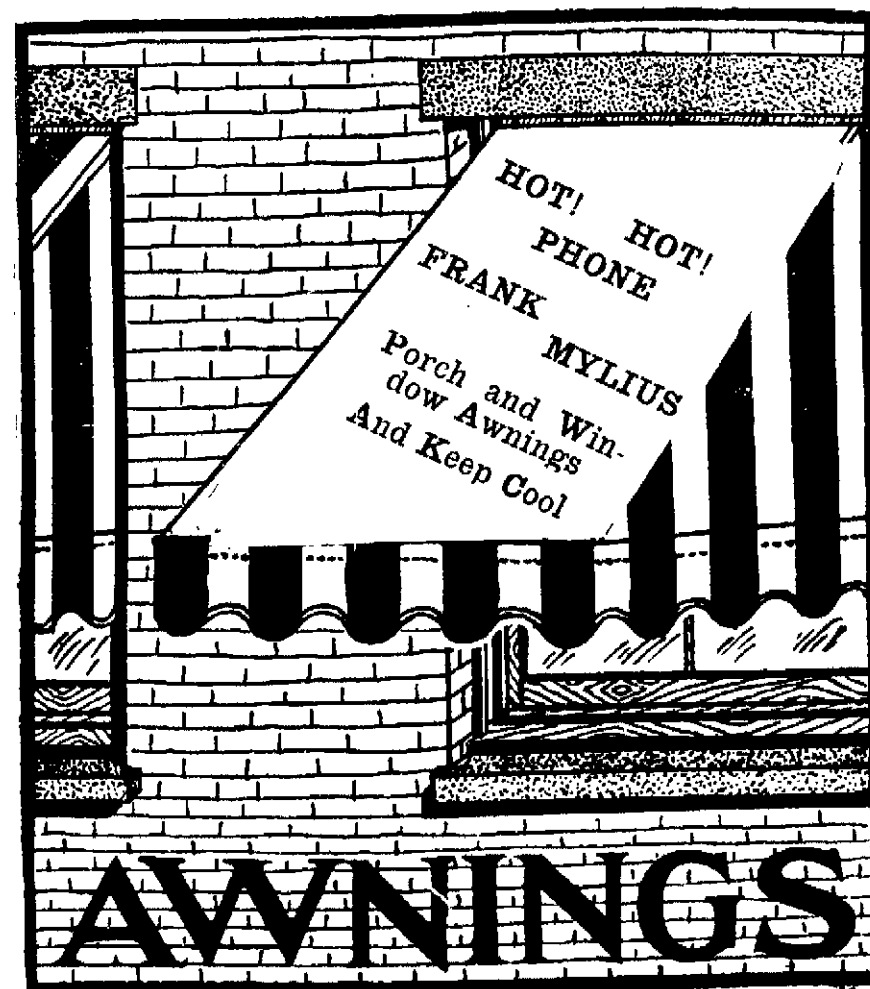

If you have any time to waste today—make that wasted time pay dividends by persuading some one to join the Board of Trade. If you are not a member—"LAND YOURSELF FIRST."

MAY TRANSFER THE ZANESVILLE SHOPS TO NEWARK

Orders received here Tuesday may pre-empt the transfer of the Zanesville shops of the B. & O. railroad to this point.

Since the flood, with its accompanying damage to the company's Zanesville shops, employees have found work elsewhere and several have come to the Newark shops. It is said there are less than a score of workmen employed there now. Under orders just received here, accounts of the Zanesville shops are to be handled here. This will add some responsibility to the office of Master Mechanic Bowden, but is not expected to necessitate increasing the force.

NEW POLICE CHIEF ISSUES ORDERS TO CITY PATROLMEN

Chief of Police James Sheridan had things to say to the patrolmen Monday when they reported at headquarters for regular night duty. He outlined briefly what he expected officers to do, the substance of which was given in his statement yesterday. He emphasized the fact that officers must not drink on duty.

He also instructed the men regarding the conduct of young boys and girls and also told them to stop the petty gambling in pool rooms, cigar stores and other places where young men have been accustomed to wager on pool games, etc.

As a result of his instructions, two young men were taken from a pool room and charged with violation of the city ordinances. The cases will be heard at a later date.

HUMANE SOCIETY PLANS TO ERECT HORSE HOSPITAL

Sick horses, crippled canines, and perhaps others of the dumb animal tribes who find themselves homeless in Licking county may be offered a place of shelter where proper medical and surgical treatment will be given them, if plans of the Licking County Humane Society materialize.

In a busy session Monday night members of the board of directors of the society laid tentative plans for establishing a horse hospital. The society took occasion, too, during its session to heartily endorse the efforts of Police Chief Sheridan toward preventing young girls and boys from attending public dances, and in his promised insistency of law enforcement.

The directors are making big preparations for the society's tag day, June 7. They request that every horse owner or any person who is a lover of horses and other dumb animals take part in the movement and help to make it a success.

Endorsement of Mayor Swartz and the board of education has already been granted for the tag day venture, and a prize plan has been arranged whereby school children will be awarded first, second and third prizes, of $5, $2 and $1 respectively, to the three school children turning into the society the greatest amount of money realized from tag sales on that day. Tags may be obtained at the Y. M. C. A. offices after next Thursday.

The money thus obtained will be applied to a fund for erecting drinking troughs for horses and dogs in different parts of the city.

Homer's "Odyssey" at Auditorium Tonight.
Newark patrons of the "movies" and the public in general should avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing at the Auditorium tonight one of the world's greatest photoplays.

Homer's "Odyssey" is in 3 parts and was produced by the Milane company, the same company that produced "Dante's Inferno" and although the latter picture was considered one of the greatest ever presented, critics claim "Odyssey" to be far superior in every way. It has been booked for tonight only at great expense and will be shown for the first time at 10 cents for adults and 5 cents for children. The entertainment runs from 6:30 to 11. "The Squashville Ladies Fire Brigade," a screaming Nestor comedy and "A Woman Loved," an Imp. drama.

OUTSIDE ESTIMATE OF GOVERNOR COX

The men who during the recent session of the general assembly, raised the cry that the "credit of the state is being impaired" every time a bill was passed for the purpose of curtailing special privileges, evidently made no impression outside of Ohio.

In New York State, the most conservative and wealthy commonwealth in the Union, the people regard the work of the state administration as constructive, not destructive, progressive, but not radical. The New York Evening Post, in part, comments as follows on the work of the assembly and Governor Cox's part in securing legislation:

"By the sheer force of his presentation (Gov. Cox) of the case, he got his own party members in the legislature to stand behind his program. Accordingly, the state has him to thank for the abolition of conventions and the substitution of primary nominations; the enactment of a modern law to carry out the constitutional amendment providing for home rule; a tax levy which is expected to yield $35,000,000 in the next decade for a system of good roads; a workmen's compensation law; a law limiting the hours of work for women; provision for a new penitentiary on a new site—that of a large farm; a state school survey to furnish a basis for improving the methods of education, and other legislation. Governor Cox seems to know the difference between progressiveness and radicalism."

If ex-President Taft ever had any real ambition to become the national candidate of his party again he has apparently given it up, for no other construction can be placed upon his decision to give up Ohio as his home and become a citizen of Connecticut. Ohio is not likely to continue as much of a champion of Mr. Taft as she would if he had retained his state's citizenship. Connecticut has never had a candidate for President, but being such a small State cannot be expected to have an influence like that of Ohio in a Republican national convention. With Mr. Taft eliminated as a possibility in 1916, there might be a chance for some one of the Republican Senatorial group now seeking notoriety and making efforts to be their party's Moses.

Ohio's Workmen's Compensation act provides for her injured workmen or their dependents a larger measure of compensation than does the law of any other state; and this without contribution from the workmen themselves. It saves, also, to them their choice of physicians and hospitals and their full constitutional rights. For the employers it provides immunity from law suits and offers them some insurance for their workmen and at a lower cost than does any other agency, state or commercial. It accomplishes this at no increase of cost burden, but reduces the question to one of distribution. Under the state plan the reward of diminished rates follows the prevention of accidents.

At the top of the list of the many important acts passed by the present general assembly in the interest of pure food, pure drugs, etc., is the Kramer law which empowers the state dairy and food commissioner and the official chemists to establish standards to conform to the national standards. These officials are also to make such uniform rules and regulations as may be necessary to enforce the food, drug and sanitary laws of the state. Previous to the passage of this law Ohio had but few food standards. Ohio is now in line with other states in having her food standards and rules conform to the national standards. A campaign is to be made for better sanitary conditions in places where foods are made and sold.

In New York state, judging from newspaper comment, Ohio is now considered the foremost progressive commonwealth in the Union. But the list of new laws is not considered radical; nor do the people of the Empire state believe that a single interest or enterprise in Ohio will be menaced by a single new act. Instead, the work of the Eightieth general assembly is regarded as a much stronger foundation for the future growth of the state than was in existence before the present body of lawmakers was elected.

ON SECOND THOUGHT

There is a good deal of talk about the automobile, but a male 17 hands high and weighing in the neighborhood of 1,600 pounds attracts more attention than a $5,000 car.

A town man is pretty good at advising farmers to drag the roads.

Some women linger at the front window to watch for their husbands. But more of them do so in the hope that an express wagon will drive up and deliver a package.

There are a number of other devices calculated to inspire it, but in a country neighborhood the top buggy is the most effective aid to love.

The case of Athlete Thorpe again emphasizes the point that being an Indian isn't enough. To play ball in the big leagues one must also be a ball player.

Uncle Walt's Philosophy

HOT AIR

The man who deals in rainbows has come to town by stealth, to catch the village vain beaux with tales of sudden wealth. I hear his gorgeous raiment, his winter frocks and such "bling-bling," he says, "your savings, and I will make you rich. I've coal mines in Nebraska (where coal does not exist), and peach groves in Alaska (no peaches there, I wish); the nectarine and prune shine on trees I have for sale, and I can sell you moonshine, so hand me out your kale." The easy marks are dragging their hockneys from the jar, for hot air, never twiggling what easy marks they are. They hope to race in riches and never pay the price, a sucker always itches to be a sacrifice. I sidestep such disasters as these men have in view, to any hard-earned pastures I seek, like patient glue I cannot be enchanted by any hot air crank; my coin is safely planted down in the village bank. I buy no dazzling Optics a million miles away, no Belgian haros or gobbers in Persia or Cathay. No fish in the Nymanas, no ice plants in Nome, no amensia farms in Kansas, no silk works from home. I save my clasp rings till there's a seemly pile, and sidestep lots of troubles, and dance and sing and smile.

Three Political Enemies
Now on Same Platform

New York, May 27.—When Theodore Roosevelt, William H. Taft, and Governor William Sulzer stand on the same platform at Carnegie hall, this day, May 28, to speak on direct primaries against Tammany Hall and the state Democratic organization the old adage "opposites make strange bedfellows" will have a forcible illustration.

Governor Sulzer, having broken with the organization of his party in New York state, decided to make a fight on it using direct primaries as the issue. The legislation in control of the state organization, of which Charles F. Murphy is the leader, announced without it passing the kind of direct primary measure the governor wanted. At once he announced a call for a special session, and said he would take the stump to arouse public opinion to force the majority and Republican members alike to accept a bill in the extra session.

He invited co-operation from all parties of men, especially asked Messrs. Roosevelt and Hearst, but accepted. Sulzer spent 18 years as a member of the House of Representatives from a strong Tammany district of New York City, and it was seldom he opposed Tammany. At the same time, Roosevelt was one of the staunchest Republicans, spending seven years of the time as a Republican president. He had no more use for Sulzer than for any other Democrat in those days. Hearst had not fought Sulzer though he had at time bitterly opposed Tammany Hall, of which the present governor was a member. But Roosevelt and Hearst have been bitter political enemies. When the editor was the Democratic candidate for governor in New York state in 1906 against the present Supreme Court Justice Charles C. Hughes, President Roosevelt sent his secretary of state, Philo Root to Utica to make a Republican speech. Root's attack on Hearst created a sensation. It was bitter and personal, going much farther than most political addresses. It cost Hearst thousands of votes.

Now Governor Sulzer, Independent Democrat, Roosevelt, leader of the Progressives, and Hearst, creator of the Independent League, will war on Murphy and William Barnes, Jr., the Republican state leader, who is also named by them for the defeat of the direct primary bills.

The Human Procession

Few living authors have as large a following on both sides of the Atlantic as Arnold Bennett, and his recent American visit has added greatly to his prestige and popularity in the United States and Canada. Mr. Bennett has kept a careful record of his literary output, and in the last eighteen years has written over seven million words, and his numerous admirers will assert that there is not a dull word among them. Arnold Bennett, one of the more enthusiastic of his young, male American following call themselves, and the famous English author is in grave danger of becoming the hero of a cult.

Arnold Bennett was born in North Staffordshire, England, May 27, 1867, and will celebrate his forty-sixth birthday today. After leaving school he decided to become a barrister, and was admitted to the bar, but as a lawyer he was an excellent writer. Twenty years ago, he definitely abandoned the legal profession and became assistant editor of a women's publication, called Woman. After four years he succeeded to the editorial chair of that publication, where he remained four years. For the last dozen years he has devoted himself entirely to literature. His virile, entertaining style and originality of thought and expression quickly made him popular in England, and his time soon spread to America, until now his war's are often numbered among the "best sellers."

Charles Francis Adams, the venerable American historian, who has lately been delivering a series of lectures on American history at Oxford University, passes his seventy-eighth milestone today, having been born in Boston, May 27, 1825. His father was United States minister to England during the civil war, and returned to his country services of inestimable value. His grandfather was President John Quincy Adams, and his great-grandfather President John Adams. In his Oxford lectures Mr. Adams discussed the question of State rights, with its application to present events, such as California's anti-Japanese legislation. He drew an analogy between Irish home rule and reconstruction in the Southern States. Mr. Adams fought throughout the civil war, and was given the rank of brigadier general for his gallantry, but in one of his addresses he paid a high tribute to General Lee, declaring that "I feel that under the circumstances he acted as I would have done, as he remained loyal to Virginia." For 25 years after the war Mr. Adams was identified with railroad interests, but has since devoted his time to historical research, and has written many books.

Sir John Swinerton Dyer, who recently played the role of bridegroom in a fashionable wedding at the Grand Chapel in London, is a very youthful husband, today being his twenty-second birthday. Sir John is the twelfth baronet of his line, the first having been created in 1610. He is an officer of one of the crack regiments of the British army, and his wedding was a military affair.

Daddy's Bedtime
Story—
Little Jane
Wanted a
Flat Egg.

Lizzie Brought In a Fried Egg.

JACK and Evelyn stilled their busy tongues. Daddy was going to tell them a story.

"In a city which is said to be very smoky, but which is really only smoky in the busy part where mills and shops pour out clouds of black smoke and which is not smoky at all away on the outside of the town where there are trees and flower gardens and nice houses, lives a little girl named Jane," said daddy.

"One evening your daddy dined at Little Jane's house, and they had pineapple ice and a delicious ice cream cake that was so nice daddy almost forgot his manners and asked for a second helping. Little Jane said she wouldn't have any of this cake because it was not her kind. Jane's kind is a certain maple sugar cake which she likes and which her mother thinks is wholesome for little girls. You know, very rich cakes are apt to make little folks ill."

"At last, because daddy begged her to try it, she did nibble a little of the ice cream cake with her sharp white teeth, and that was all she would do. She still wanted her maple sugar cake."

"And, having a little boy and girl at home who like any kind of cake, daddy was surprised."

"Oh, Jane takes notions about her food?" Jane's mother said. "What do you think of a little girl that doesn't like eggs?"

"She likes flat eggs," Jane's brother suggested.

"So she does," the little girl's mother agreed.

"Flat eggs?" asked daddy. "What are they? We never seem to have had that kind at our house."

"Oh, yes, you have," Jane's brother spoke up. "They're—but mother will tell you."

"We had never heard of flat eggs, either, until one morning after Jane had paid a long visit to her grandma and grandpa," said the lady.

"One morning soon after she came home she asked for a flat egg."

"My dear," I said, "there are no flat eggs. All eggs are round."

"But Jane insisted the kind she wanted was quite flat."

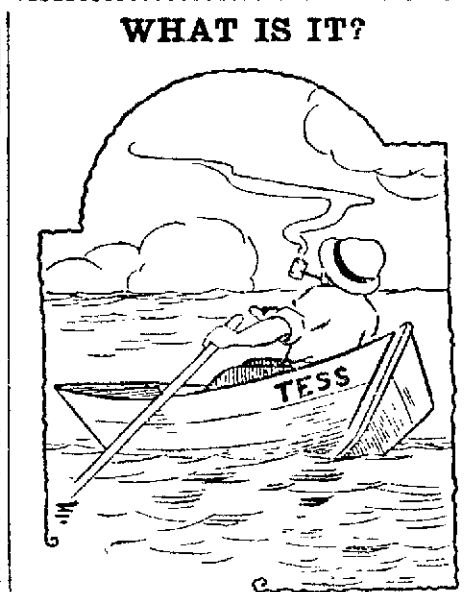

"We all tried to guess what she wanted. Then we called in Lizzie, the cook. Lizzie and Jane are great friends, and when we can't make out what Jane means Lizzie always knows."

"Jane told Lizzie that she wanted a flat egg, and Lizzie seemed to understand. She went out into the kitchen and after a few minutes came in with a fried egg. Yes, that was what she wanted, and now we never think of speaking of fried eggs. Like Jane, we talk about flat eggs."

First Things

The first English historian, the Venerable Bede, died on this date in the year 735. The most learned writer and most eminent Englishman of his age was born in 673. He wrote on astronomy, mathematics, grammar and music, but his chief claim to immortality is as the father of English history, a title won by his authorship of the "Ecclesiastical History of the English Nation," an invaluable record of early English history. In his conclusion to this work, he wrote: "This much of the Ecclesiastical History of Britain, and more especially of the English nation, as far as I could learn either from the writings of the ancients, or of my own knowledge, has, with the help of God, been digested by me, Bede, the servant of God, and priest of the monastery of the blessed apostles Peter and Paul, which is at Wearmouth and Jarrow."

Great Britain's business failures were fewer last year than in any similar period since 1888.

The Advocate Habit.

A man of our acquaintance, who might not be suspected of knowing much about his wife's hats and gowns, has lately acquired the habit of studying the advertising pages of THE ADVOCATE. The result is that he has enjoyed no little amount of profitable diversion in helping his wife make her Spring selections of hats and shoes and other apparel.

By friendly co-operation and discussion of the many attractive offerings, he proved himself of great assistance to his wife and turned many weeks of irritating shopping experiences into a pleasant pastime.

He has demonstrated to his own satisfaction that, by a systematic study of the advertising columns of THE ADVOCATE one may save time, money and patience in spring shopping. Also, that it is a very good habit to take THE ADVOCATE home each day or to have it delivered regularly, where it may be read thoroughly in the quiet of the home circle.

DOES PRISONER VIOLATE PAROLE IF HE'S INSANE?

Columbus, O., May 27.—Is a prisoner guilty of violating his parole if he becomes insane? This is an important question which members of the state board of administration are attempting to solve.

On December 8, 1907, Melvin R. Smith of Canton, was sent to the Mansfield reformatory. On September 9, 1911 he was paroled, and in the following April was adjudged insane and committed to the Columbus state hospital, where he was cured. Yesterday, on a charge of violating his parole, he was returned from the hospital to the Mansfield reformatory. Board members are considering the case and may order his release.

Death, believed to be the indirect result of an accident of ten days ago, claimed Mrs. Sarah Mills, aged nearly 80 years, late Tuesday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. P. Brown, 339 East Indiana street.

One week ago last Friday Mrs. Mills was struck by an automobile as she was crossing Cedar street. The machine was going at a slow rate of speed and the collision was declared by witnesses to have been unavoidable. Owing to her age, however, Mrs. Mills failed rapidly in health since the accident.

SNAPSHOTS BY BARBARA BOYD

Making Oneself Attractive

SHE was dressing for a little party where she was to meet friends, and perhaps some strangers. Naturally, she wished to make a pleasing impression. So she proceeded with the art of making herself attractive as she understood it—and as many of us understand it.

She took from a drawer a mass of false hair and carefully arranged it in braids and puffs and coils upon her head.

She took the cover from a powder puff jar and fluffed a lot of powder over her face. Then she carefully wiped it off, and with a hand-glass minutely inspected her countenance to see that no tell-tale patch of white remained.

Next, she opened a jewel case, and taking from it a pair of diamond ear-rings, fastened them into her ears. Then she stepped back a short distance from the mirror to view the effect.

A shimmering silk dress was now slipped on, a chain with a diamond pendant fastened about her neck, and her toilette was completed.

She viewed herself with a glance of satisfaction, and went forth to win the approbation she felt sure would be hers.

And that it was hers was proved by the admiring glances showered upon her and the crowd that flocked about her.

She sparkled and shimmered and shone, and that was enough—for herself and for others.

That she ought to put something into her head as well as on it never occurred to enter her head.

And that the outside of her head was better furnished than the inside did not seem in any way to trouble her admirers.

That the "bloom" on her cheek was not the bloom of freshness and health gave her no care. Since she could get it out of a powder jar, why bother to secure it at greater pains.

And any old sort of bloom seemed to satisfy the crowd about her.

The sparkle of the diamonds in her ears made up to her and the others for the lack of any sparkle of good-nature or kindness in her eyes. That her eyes were cold and hard seemed to be unnoticed. The diamonds glittered with so brilliant a light they focussed all attention upon themselves.

The decking of her body was all she felt she need do to make herself attractive. And judging by results, she was right in the opinion—which would seem to indicate, would it not, that we are not yet so far removed from that period when the hanging of beads about our neck, the staining of our skin with the juices of berries and the sticking of feathers into our hair was all that was necessary to give charm.

But is this the right idea of attractiveness? It is true that we should be tastefully and attractively dressed. We should, in every way we can add to the amount of beauty in this world. But is not the important thing what is inside our head, not what is on it? Should not dress be subordinate to personality?

And not only should we make it so ourselves, but should we not give our admiration to those who have it so? If we would flock about those who have the beauty of character, instead of those who have merely stylish or costly apparel and nothing else, the world would move forward a peg or two in many important matters.

The girl who gives her all, and sometimes herself, for dress would be taught there are more worth-while things than clothes. If admiration were not poured out so lavishly on mere appearance much of the extravagant living of today would be checked.

The evil resulting from our present ideas of making ourselves attractive reaches out in many ways.

So, though we do not want a world of frumps, let us insist that real attractiveness is not a matter of false hair and powder and diamonds. Then will we help relegate dress to the subordinate place it should occupy in life.

DR. E. W. HUNT

Favors Accepting Position as Secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society.

That Dr. Emory W. Hunt, president of Denison University, whose resignation was mailed Monday from Detroit, is anxious to accept the proffered secretaryship of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, became known today when the statement was made at Granville that Dr. Hunt was endeavoring to secure his release from the call extended by the Brooklyn church.

The Missionary society has taken the matter up with the Emanuel Baptist church at Brooklyn, which extended the call, in an effort to have that congregation's action rescinded. This will leave Dr. Hunt free to accept the secretaryship offer.

It is known among Dr. Hunt's intimate friends that he prefers the post with the missionary society rather than the pastorate of the Brooklyn church. He feels that he would rather give his service to the society than to the church.

There is no question regarding the fact of his resignation. This has been accepted by his friends as being no longer doubtful.

The publication of the story in the Advocate caused no surprise, either to his friends outside of educational circles or to the trustees and faculty of the university. Dr. Hunt's health has not been of the best for some time. He returned but a few months ago from a trip through Europe, which followed closely upon his journey into the Canadian woods on a hunting and fishing trip last summer.

COASTERBRAKE DEFENDANTS ALL PLEADED GUILTY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Rochester, N. Y., May 27.—The defendants in the case of the government against the Coasterbrake trust, all pleaded guilty in federal court here this morning.

The civil suit against the so-called Coasterbrake trust was settled last week by the voluntary dissolution of the companies forming the alleged combination. The individuals indicted requested that the indictments be quashed. This United States Attorney John Lord O'Brien declined to do, and the arraignment at Rochester today followed.

The so-called "Coasterbrake trust" was organized in Buffalo in 1908 for the purpose of fixing uniform prices for coasterbrakes and other bicycle parts. Prior to its organization there were seven large corporations manufacturing bicycles, motorcycles, sundries, including coasterbrakes, each concerned manufacturing its own coasterbrake under its own patents.

Newark Contractor Is Low Bidder on Elmwood Paving

Newark and Coshocton contractors were low bidders on two public improvement contracts, bids for which were opened at 12 o'clock Tuesday at the office of Service Director James McCarthy in Church street. The bids were made on the paving of Elmwood avenue and the construction of drainage sewers in Sixteenth street, Baylestown avenue and Buckingham street.

R. H. Ntce of Newark, Adams Brothers of Zanesville and Henderson Brothers of Coshocton were the bidders on the paving contract. Mr. Ntce's bid was the lowest and the contract will probably be let to him. Grounds were will be covered from Log Pond Run in Shelds street.

Adams Brothers of Zanesville and Henderson Brothers of Coshocton bid on the three sewer jobs, Henderson Brothers being the low bidder.

"KAYSER" Gloves are the result of a lifetime spent in Silk Glove making—in striving for the attainment of that superlative degree of excellence that makes the "KAYSER" Glove the standard, by which all other Silk Gloves are measured.

There is no excuse for accepting the "just as good" kind "KAYSER" Gloves "cost no more" and carry with them assurance of quality and reliability.

There's a way to tell the genuine—"look in the hem," if you find the name "KAYSER" you have the glove that "don't wear out" at the finger "tips."

A guarantee ticket in every pair.

GROWING CHILDREN NEED GOOD BOWELS

Give a Mild Laxative Occasionally To Insure Regular Bowel Action.

As a child grows older it requires more and more personal attention from the mother, and as the functions of the bowels are of the utmost importance to health great attention should be paid to them.

Diet is of great importance, and the mother should watch the effect of certain foods. A food will constipate one and not another, and so we have a healthy food like eggs causing biliousness to thousands and a wholesome fruit like bananas constipating many. It is also to be considered that the child is growing and great changes are taking place in the young man or young woman. The system has not yet settled itself to its later routine.

A very valuable remedy at this stage, and one which every growing boy and girl should be given often or occasionally according to the individual circumstances, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a laxative and tonic combined, so mild that it is given to little babies, and yet equally effective in the most robust constitution. At the first sign of a tendency to constipation give a small dose of Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring and prompt action will follow in the morning. It not only acts on the stomach and bowels but its tonic properties build up and strengthen the system generally. Mrs. Henry Babler, Van Dyne, Wis., writes that her little son, Melvin Babler, was constipated most of the time until she gave him Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Since using this remedy he has never been constipated.

The use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will teach you to avoid cathartics, salts and pills as they are too harsh for the majority and their effect is only temporary. Syrup Pepsin brings permanent results, and it can be conveniently obtained of any nearby druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

Wisdom from Washington

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, May 27.—[Special.]—Several important tariff engagements have been fought in the senate—sham battles, however, as they were evidently staged affairs—and up to date there have been no serious results. There will be more of this preliminary skirmishing before the bill is reported to the senate. Meanwhile the finance committee is hard at work making over the bill. At least, that is understood by those on the outside.

This making over process will not be very agreeable to the members of the house who prepared and put the bill through, even if there are not many changes in rates. The house still thinks it has rights in the matter of revenue legislation, although they have been largely usurped by the senate in all tariff bills for more than a quarter of a century.

The Fire in the Rear.

The Republicans have been successful in at least one part of their tariff campaign. They have been able to stir up a great deal of fire in the rear of the Democratic majority. Protests of all kinds and from various people interested are coming to Washington on every mail. Of course the manufacturers are most numerous represented in these protests, but there is a fair proportion from the farming and labor interests.

One reason why it was announced that the department of commerce proposed to investigate the reduction of wages by concerns which charged such reductions to the tariff was to forestall the complaints of workmen of threatened reductions.

It is a Real Task.

There are many Democrats who wish they did not have to frame a tariff bill. "Just think how hard we struggled for four years to bring all this trouble upon us!" remarked one with a sense of humor. "All the time we were working for the people and seeking power in order to give the people relief. And now we are afraid that some of us will 'get it in the neck' by the people if we put through this tariff bill."

Shutting Off Debate.

Old timers were somewhat amused at the proposition which some of the newer senators propose in order to prevent an interminable debate on the tariff. It is not to be a cloture, but a change in the rules which will allow the majority to close debate. The difference is that between tweedledum and tweedledee. Whether it is the previous question or a rule which will allow the majority to close the debate, it is all one and the same thing. Only when a majority votes for the previous question is debate closed.

But it is only a passing fancy. If the Democratic majority in the senate should wait until a rule is adopted to close debate before it takes up the tariff the tariff would wait until next session.

Burleson is Busy.

The long list of postoffice appointments sent to the senate every week by the president shows that Postmaster General Burleson is busy. Burleson is a Democrat who believes that as soon as a Republican's term expires his Democratic successor should be named. And so far the president has shown a willingness to be guided by his Texas member of the cabinet.

Far Western Diplomacy.

From the Washington viewpoint Nebraska is far west and Wyoming more so. Consequently we hear about a "far western diplomacy" because the secretary of state and first assistant secretary are from those states. However, there is much diplomacy intrusted to John Bassett Moore, the counselor of the department.

"Where did Osborne learn diplomacy?" some one asked when John E. Osborne of Wyoming was made first assistant.

"By being a big ranchman, service in congress, governor of his state and travel abroad," was the reply.

But Osborne is nothing like his predecessor, Huntington Wilson, who grew up in diplomacy.

Can't Keep Away.

"He can't keep away," is a remark which everybody makes when they see Uncle Joe Cannon in Washington frequently. And there is something in it, too, for most of Cannon's friends are here, and he just likes to get around among them. Naturally a man who has been so active in public life can't give it up all at once.

"Nailing Lies."

There are to be some "lies nailed" in the tariff debate. "Infamous slanders" are to be refuted, and considerable in the way of stump speaking and echoes of the hustings is to be injected into the tariff debate in the senate. It begins to look as if we were to see more of it in the senate than in the house.

PET BLACK GOAT ATE $150 CASH SAYS PRESS AGENT

"Nigg," a goat as black as midnight, and the only capricorn that ever dined on real money, is one of the trained creatures that will be in this city next Friday, May 30, with Gentry Brothers shows. "Nigg," in addition to being a trained goat, is precocious in many ways. He has all the earmarks, peculiarities and vagaries of appetite due to creatures of his kind.

Three years ago, when Gentry Brothers shows were exhibiting in a little town in the Virginia mountains a boy came to the front door leading "Nigg." He also led a youngster two years his junior. In a pitiful way he pictured the poverty of his family, said he had no money, and for two tickets he would trade the goat.

"He is a pet and a good goat," said the older boy as he handed over the string to the trainer.

"Nigg," is a pet and a good goat. One day he strolled into the ticket wagon. Something green caught his eye. He ate it. Then he was discovered. The goat had devoured three bundles of paper money, fifty dollars to the bundle.

He is the leader of the split hoof performers with Gentry Brothers shows. They will be here with Gentry Brothers Famous shows next Friday, May 30. For this city only, admission is reduced to twenty-five and thirty-five cents.

taken more than a dozen glasses of whiskey?

A.—I did not drink a dozen glasses of whiskey in fifteen years.

Q.—Now the wine you drink is light wine?

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—What do you mean by light wine?

A.—I mean white wines and sometimes it may be a little Madeira.

Q.—Any other kinds of wine?

A.—I may have drunk a little red wine and occasionally a little sherry.

Q.—You don't keep any wine of any kind in your house?

A.—Red wine.

Q.—Do you keep wine of any kind in your house?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you keep brandy and wine in the White House?

Mr. Pound—I object to that.

The court—You may note exceptions.

Roosevelt—I continued to keep wine as I found that my predecessor had done so.

Q.—Did you drink whiskey or have you drunk whiskey in your trips?

A.—Not only as I have described, a teaspoonful in a glass of milk.

Q.—Now did you carry a flask of whiskey or brandy with you on your trips?

A.—I did not.

Q.—Do you know Mr. Wallace of Detroit?

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—What is his business?

A.—I don't know.

Q.—Had he anything to do with the beginning of this suit, if you know?

A.—That I cannot tell.

Q.—Don't you know who began this important suit?

A.—I was in the Mercy Hospital, Chicago, at the time.

Q.—Did you know that Mr. Wallace had charge of it and did you know that he had charge of employing counsel?

A.—That I could not say.

Q.—Had you met Mr. Pound up to that time?

A.—I may have met him.

Q.—Do you have any memory of it?

A.—I don't remember, whether I met him or not.

Q.—Was Mr. Pound employed by you personally?

A.—No, he was not employed by me personally.

Q.—Do you know who paid for the expense of taking testimony and all that? Do you stand the expenses?

A.—Yes?

Q.—And it has not been borne by any organization in the state of Michigan?

A.—It has not.

Q.—Have you or any other person charge of it?

Mr. Pound has charge of it.

Mr. Andrews—I think that is all.

Mr. Pound on redirect examination asked:

Q.—As I understand it, you have no recollection of having seen Mr. Pound in Michigan or Chicago, prior to the beginning of this suit which was sometime in the month of October?

A.—I have no recollection.

Q.—As a matter of fact you communicated with Mr. Pound by letter as soon as you were sufficiently able to do so?

(Objected to as leading by Mr. Andrews.)

A.—I assume complete responsibility. No organization has any responsibility excepting myself. I have it all.

Q.—You have hired your attorneys and stood all the expenses in regard to this case?

(Mr. Andrews objected to question as leading.)

The Court—It seems to me the question is leading.

This concluded the examination.

were taken up with cross examination.

Henry Rauthier, city assessor of Ishpeming was the next witness. He testified concerning the publication of the alleged libel.

Attorneys for Mr. Newell said they would concede the publication of the article but Col. Roosevelt's attorneys stated they would insist upon proving it.

Jacob A. Riis, the writer called as the first important witness for Col. Roosevelt testified he was 64 years old and was born in Denmark.

Riis said he became acquainted with Colonel Roosevelt because of their mutual interest in the welfare of the poorer classes of New York.

"I made him my brother," said Riis, "for days and nights we walked the streets together, watching whether the police were on duty and looking into conditions of those desperate tenement houses."

The same companionship continued until after Col. Roosevelt became president.

During the fifteen years you have known Mr. Roosevelt, did you ever see him under the influence of liquor?

"Oh, lord, no," replied Mr. Riis.

"The statement that he is a free user of liquor is a lie. I have seen this man under the greatest stress and never have seen him resort to liquor."

"Is he a blasphemous man?"

"No, he is a gentleman."

Argument followed between counsel as to whether it was necessary for witnesses to testify whether Col. Roosevelt was a gentleman.

The court sustained an objection that "the law presumed the plaintiff was a gentleman."

When cross examined, Riis was asked whether his work as a writer took him out of politics.

"It has put me right in the thick of it. I have been fighting Tammany in New York for thirty years."

"Did you ever see Mr. Roosevelt drink mint juleps?"

"I never did and I don't believe he does. I have seen him drink champagne."

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Marquette, Mich., May 27.—Theodore Roosevelt took the witness stand today in his libel suit against George A. Newell, who in an editorial charged him with drunkenness. The former president entered a denial. He admitted using light wines with his meals, but never touched strong liquors except on advice of his physician or after great exposure. He said he does not smoke or touch beer. His testimony, in substance, as elicited by his attorneys, was as follows:

"I was born in New York, October 27, 1858, and was graduated from Harvard in 1880. In the fall of 1881, I was elected to the New York legislature where I served three terms. In 1886, I ran for mayor of New York, and was beaten. In 1889, I was appointed civil service commissioner and served six years. In 1895, I was appointed president of the police board of New York and served two years. In 1897, I was appointed assistant secretary of the navy and served one year. In May, 1898, I resigned to act as lieutenant colonel of the First Volunteer cavalry, commonly called the 'Rough Riders,' and served during the Spanish-American war. I was in the fighting around Santiago, where my regiment lost over one-third of its officers and over one-fifth of the regiment killed and wounded. I was promoted to colonel of the regiment and made acting brigadier-general, returning to Montauk Point. The army was there disbanded in September.

"I was at once nominated governor of New York and was elected. I served as governor until near the end of my term and before it ended in the spring of 1900, I was nominated for vice president on the ticket with William McKinley, and was elected. I served as vice president from March 1, 1901, until September 14, 1901, when President McKinley died from the effects of the bullet wound of the assassin Czolgozec. I served as president for the unexpired term of three years and a half, and was nominated and elected as president in the fall of 1904.

"A little over a fortnight after leaving the presidency, on March 4, 1909, I went to Africa as head of the Smithsonian expedition. I came out at Khartoum on March 15, 1910, and after a short trip through Europe returned to the United States toward the end of June, 1910. Since then I have lived continuously at Oyster Bay and have been connected with The Outlook.

"From 1883 to 1896 I spent considerable time on my cattle ranch on the Little Missouri, in the present state of North Dakota.

"I have never drunk a cocktail or a highball in my life. With the exceptions hereafter noted, I never drank whiskey or brandy except under the advice of a physician. I don't care for the taste of either.

"I don't smoke and I don't drink beer, because I dislike smoking and dislike the taste of beer. I never have drunk whiskey or brandy except when the doctor prescribed it, or possibly on some occasion after great exposure when I was chilled through. But it has been certainly fifteen or twenty years since I have drunk it because of being chilled through. I never have drunk beer, nor do I drink red wine. The only wines that I have drunk have been white wines, Madeira, champagne or very occasionally a glass of sherry.

"At home I often at dinner will drink wine glass or two wineglasses of Madeira. In summer instead of Madeira, I will often drink a tall glass of white wine and potent water, and 'poly' water. At public dinners I sometimes drink a glass of champagne, or perhaps two. I think that on the average this means that I will drink champagne about once a month.

"Only exceptions to what I have stated was the drinking whiskey and brandy as follows:

"Mint juleps I've rarely drunk. At the White House we had a mint bed and I should think that on the average I may have drunk half a dozen mint juleps a year. Since I have left the White House four years ago to the best of my memory, I have drunk mint juleps twice; one occasion at the Country club at St. Louis, where I drank part of a glass of mint julep and on another occasion at a big luncheon given me at Little Rock, Ark., where they passed round the table a loving cup with a mint julep in it, and I drank when the cup was passed to me. The only other occasions on which I have drunk whiskey have been when it has been prescribed by the doctors.

"During the last 14 years I do not believe I have drunk whiskey straight or with water more than half a dozen times. On the African trip the expedition took along a case of champagne, a case of whiskey and one bottle of brandy. The bottle of brandy was taken for me because I do not drink whiskey. Some of the other members of the party drank whiskey.

The champagne was used medically for three members of the party who were down with fever and dysentery and for two or three travelers, hunters and missionaries we met who were sick. I never touched either the whiskey or the champagne.

"Out of the brandy bottle I drank exactly seven ounces, this being given me by Dr. Mearns, on two occasions when I had fever. The last time I told him I disliked it so that I did not think it did me any good and unless he objected, I would take tea. Accordingly I took tea and turned the bottle and the rest of the brandy over to Mr. R. J. Cunningham, who was managing the expedition.

"Eight months later, when we reached Khartoum he asked what we should do with it, saying that from curiosity he had measured it and that I had drunk just seven ounces in eleven months.

"As for brandy, I never drink it any more than I do whiskey when I am alone or at home, or on a hunting trip, or at a friend's house, but on very hard campaign trips, on the advice of Surgeon General Rixey, and recently of Dr. Holbrook Curtis, who attends to my throat during these campaign trips, I have frequently, just before going to bed at night, drunk either one or two goblets of milk, with a teaspoonful of brandy to the goblet. If there is more than a teaspoonful I dislike the taste and don't drink it. I frequently drink milk at some meals during the day, usually at luncheon.

"The brandy which was used in Africa was never in my own possession and I only took it when given to me by the doctor. I do not even carry a flask of brandy or whiskey with me. I used to carry it on my hunting trips, but found that I used it so rarely that it was a nuisance and might get broken up and it has been twenty years since I carried one.

"On my ranch I never had whiskey. I never made a practice of drinking at a bar. I don't believe I have drunk at a bar for 20 odd years. I don't believe I have been inside a saloon during that time.

"On campaign trips I drink nothing until as I say above, I go to bed, when I take a goblet, or perhaps two goblets, of milk with a teaspoonful of brandy to the goblet, finding it rests my throat and makes me sleep well.

"On almost every campaign trip there will be some occasion on which I stop at a friend's house, when I will drink a glass of wine; or there will be some public dinner, when I will drink either a glass of white wine or a glass of champagne.

"For example in the Ohio campaign last year during the nine days I touched nothing whatever on seven days excepting at night as above mentioned before going to bed, not drinking a drop of any kind until I was undressed. The other two days were the occasions when I spoke at Toledo and the occasion when I spoke at Cleveland.

"At Toledo after the speech, Mr. Garfield, Mr. Bots and I went to the house of Mr. and Mrs. Shepley, where we met Mayor and Mrs. Brand Whitlock and went into the dining room to take a little supper. There was some champagne, and I first took a glass of champagne, and I then found that there was a pitcher of milk and doughnuts and I took the milk and doughnuts instead.

"On the afternoon of the day I went to Cleveland, I stopped at Ravenna, at the house of Mr. Hanna. There I had a not of tea and at dinner, I believe, but as not certain, that I took a glass of champagne.

I made various evening speeches I am often thirsty and take a bottle of Apollinaris water, or potent water with a glass of cracked ice, but I drink no liquor of any kind and never have drunk any liquor of any kind in the car excepting as above described. For instance, take the day I spoke at Duluth last year. In the morning I reached Superior and spoke there. We went over to Duluth and took luncheon, there being no liquor at lunch. I then dictated the two speeches. I intended to make at Oshkosh and Chicago then went for an automobile ride and afterwards took dinner.

"No liquor was served at dinner and I did not drink a drop of wine or liquor of any kind during the day. I stopped and spoke a few sentences to a dinner of doctors, at their earnest and repeated requests. I then made two speeches in the evening. I went back to the car and got a bottle of Apollinaris water and a glass with ice in it, but without any liquor of any kind, and drank the Apollinaris water. When I went to bed I took two spoonfuls of brandy in milk, and that was the only drop of liquor I touched that day. I was in Duluth only that day.

"While at the White House I never touched brandy or whiskey excepting the mint juleps above mentioned, and possibly on two or three occasions when Dr. Rixey prescribed a drink of whiskey. Once if I remember right, for an acute attack of indigestion and once when he and I had made a hundred mile ride together and came in through a snowstorm and he gave me some whiskey and I disliked it so that after taking a sip, I would not take any more and got a cup of tea instead.

"Outside of these prescriptions of Dr. Rixey we usually had at lunch soft white wine if there were guests. Unless there were guests I drank nothing at lunch, and often I drank nothing if there were guests. If we dined alone I drank nothing. If we had guests we usually had white wine, but some time Maderia and at formal dinners we had champagne, of which I would drink a glass or two.

"While at Washington almost all the entertainments were at the White House, but each member of the cabinet gave a dinner, and I believe there was always champagne at those dinners and I drank a glass or two precisely as at the White House.

"I also on perhaps a half dozen occasions went out, for instance, to the Gridiron club dinner, or to the reception on Speaker Cannon's 70th birthday or to a dinner of the New York delegation in congress. On these occasions I drank precisely as in the White House.

"On the occasion of Mr. Cannon's evening reception I went in company with Mr. Loeb and with James Sloane, a secret service man.

"Neither on this occasion nor on any other occasion did I take a glass of whiskey or brandy or any liquor in any form. On this occasion I took a sandwich and a glass of champagne which I drank standing up, proposing the health of the speaker on his 70th birthday.

"No man who knew me ever asked me to take any whiskey, because they knew that under no circumstances did I take it, and none on this occasion ever proposed to me to take whiskey. Neither while in the White House nor at any other have I ever drunk or taken any kind of liquor between meals except as above described and in the White House I not only did not drink whiskey or brandy but I did not know where any whiskey or brandy was.

"Unless I shaved myself I was always shaved by Delaney in the room between my room and Mr. Loeb's immediately before luncheon and never on any occasion during the time that I was in the White House did I touch a drop of anything during the day prior to being shaved.

"I never in my life while in the White House or any where else have ever left a room for the purpose of getting a drink between meals and it would have been a physical impossibility for me to have left the room for any such period at any period of my work in the White House. On the 17th and 18th of last February, I was staying in New York with Mrs. Roosevelt and my daughter at the Marquis hotel, No. 12 East Thirty-first street. To the best of my knowledge and belief there is no bar in the hotel.

"Mrs. Roosevelt and my daughter and I had breakfast served in our apartments at about nine o'clock. Immediately afterwards on both days I walked down Madison avenue to Twenty-third street across to Fourth avenue and into the Outlook office, doing work and seeing various people until about 5:30 the first day and until 5 the next day, going out for a few minutes for lunch.

"When I left the office on Monday I walked up Fourth avenue to Thirty-first street and across to the Marquis hotel, where I had tea with Mrs. Roosevelt. On Tuesday I left at 2 o'clock and took the 2:30 train for the Pennsylvania depot for Oyster Bay. On neither day did I touch a drop of anything at any time.

"I have not been in the Waldorf unless at a public dinner for certainly three years and I was not in the Waldorf on either of these two days. On neither of those two days did I go into or come out of any building in Forty-second street and on neither of these two days did I go above Thirty-first street or Third street on Fifth avenue. Between 4 and 6 o'clock the avenue is densely crowded.

"For the last fifteen years I can give you in detail just about what I have drunk and have given it substantially above and neither during those fifteen years nor since I have been of age have I ever under any circumstances been in even the smallest degree under the influence of liquor.

KING AND CONSORT LEAVE FOR ENGLAND

(Associated Press Telegram)
Berlin, May 27.—King George and Queen Mary of England, terminated their visit today with a review of the guards army corps which was holding its spring parade at Potsdam. The review was followed by a gala luncheon at Potsdam palace. Their majesties left for England late in the afternoon.

MARTIN BURNS SUICIDES

band in an effort to prevent him from doing him further harm. Burns retained possession of the gun, resisting his wife's efforts to get it from him. Realizing that the man was determined, his wife ran up stairs, screaming for help. She aroused a young woman, occupying an upstairs room, and the two started down stairs again. Two shots were fired in rapid succession while they were on the stairway. In the meantime the saloon porter who had come to open up for the day, rushed into the house and Mrs. Burns called to him, saying "Martin is trying to kill himself."

The trio rushed into the sitting room and found Burns lying in the middle of the floor. He was dead, the shot through the brain proving instantly fatal.

Mrs. Burns told the Advocate that it was customary for her husband to secure the gun from the drawer behind the bar and bring it to the bedroom each night after removing the trade of a brass register. However last night, he did not do this, and the gun remained in the drawer. Burns probably secured possession of it while pacing the hall during the night while trying to relieve the nervous strain from which he suffered. When it was seen that the self-
